

Society for the History of War, Annual Conference and AGM
23-24 November 2023
National Library of Lisbon, Portugal

UPDATE: Annual Conference Programme Issued

We issued our Call for Proposals earlier in the year and we were astonished to have received 190 people from 28 different countries submitting papers. We didn't expect this level of interest and found it very difficult to narrow down participation to the number of available speaking slots.

Currently we are offering three travel bursaries to help Early Career Researchers get to the conference. That will help us create even more interesting discussions.

Professor Margaret MacMillan will be offering a keynote speech.

The AGM will take place on 23 November at 12:50 to 13:30 Western European Time (UK/Portugal are in the same time zone). We will also endeavour to make this available via Zoom for those members who are not in attendance in Lisbon. The SHoW Secretary will circulate the AGM papers before 23 October.

The SHoW Exec Committee are incredibly grateful to the organising team for putting the programme together and to our sponsors for helping us fund the programme. The list of supporting organisations and people includes:

- Graça Almeida Borges | DHAH-Autonomous University of Lisbon and CIDEHUS-University of Évora
- Matthew Ford | Swedish Defence University
- Samuël Kruizinga | University of Amsterdam
- Bruno Lopes | CIDEHUS-University of Évora
- Roger Lee de Jesus | History Department-Leibniz University Hannover and CHSC-University of Coimbra André Murteira | CHAM-New University of Lisbon
- Sandra Araújo | Institute of Social Sciences-University of Lisbon

Space is limited but we'd be pleased to see existing members attend the conference. I will circulate the joining instructions in the very near future, once we've had enough of our conference speakers confirm their attendance. This will be no later than 15 October and hopefully earlier. If members would like to attend then please let the secretary to the society know as soon as possible (secretary@show.org.uk).

The attendance fee for members is €65. This will cover food and dinner for the two-day event.
